

Introduction:

The Swedish Casting Sport Federation recognizes the importance of having a well-defined core mission for the ICSF, as well as clearly outlined roles for its various entities. Clear definitions ensure streamlined operations and enhance the effectiveness of the federation.

Objectives:

- Define ICSF's Central Mission: The ICSF board should describe the overarching mission of the federation. This central mission will serve as the guiding principle for all activities, decisions, and strategic directions.
- Clarify Roles and Responsibilities: Each function within the ICSF - be it the board, various committees, or the election committee - should have its roles and responsibilities explicitly defined. This clarity will ensure each entity understands its purview and can operate more effectively.
- Documentation: Once the mission and roles have been refined, they should be documented in an official capacity. This will ensure long-term clarity and serve as a reference for all members.
- Periodic Review: The defined mission and roles should be reviewed periodically, ideally in ICSF meetings, to ensure their continued relevance and effectiveness.
- Stakeholder Engagement: Feedback from all member states should be actively sought. Their insights will be invaluable in ensuring that the mission and roles resonate with and serve the broader casting sport community.
- Implementation Timeline: It's recommended that the ICSF board endeavors to finalize this clarification process before the next major assembly or meeting.

Goal:

To ensure a unified understanding and enhanced operational efficiency within the ICSF by clearly defining its central mission and the roles of its constituent entities.
